

AWS Cloud Credit for Sustainability

Application Form

The AWS Cloud Credit for Sustainability Program, managed by the Amazon Sustainability Data Initiative \(ASDI\), supports experimentation and development for sustainability-related projects. Specifically, the program seeks to support those who:

1. Build cloud-hosted applications, software, or tools for sustainability related work.
2. Perform proof of concept or benchmark tests evaluating the efficacy of moving research workloads or open data sets to the cloud.
3. Train a broader community on the usage of cloud for sustainability workloads via workshops or tutorials.

We particularly encourage applications related to the usage of ASDI datasets.

Application Process

AWS will evaluate proposals throughout the year. Awarded amounts will vary depending on the proposal and usage requirements documented in the proposal, and will be in the form of AWS Promotional Credit applicable to AWS services. EC2 usage supported by AWS Promotional Credit will be for on-demand and Spot Instances only.

Decisions are typically communicated 30 days following submission. Credit will be redeemed directly into the AWS account provided in the application.

If you are awarded AWS Promotional Credit for free usage of AWS, they will be good for the earlier of one year or until they have been fully utilized. Please make sure to account for the duration of the AWS Promotional Credit in your project timeline, as the end date cannot be extended and they will expire if unused.

Have you discussed your proposal with anyone in the Amazon Sustainability Data Initiative prior to completing this application?
